Witch's Plan

by FrozenPanda97

Category: How to Train Your Dragon
Genre: Adventure, Humor
Language: English
Characters: Astrid, Hiccup, Snotlout, Stoick
Status: In-Progress
Published: 2013-10-20 17:14:32
Updated: 2015-02-09 13:15:42
Packaged: 2016-04-26 15:18:54
Rating: K+
Chapters: 11
Words: 5,861
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: Hiccup and the teens get sent to the past so that they can learn something new about their selves. I don't own How To Train Your Dragon.

1. Run Away

Hiccup was in the middle of running away, for the sake of his and his best friend's life. Toothless the Night Fury was scared for his Rider. Alvin the Treacherous was attacking again and Stoick had ordered the Dragons to take their Riders and flee.

Astrid was worried about Berk, and Hiccup. He looked so guilty. If something happened to Stoick, Astrid knew Hiccup would never forgive himself. After all, he felt it was his fault that Alvin started to attack Berk again. All because they had Dragons, and that was all thanks to Hiccup.

Snotlout was worried about his Dad. Spitelout had ordered him to protect Hiccup and Toothless but all Snotlout could think was that if his Father was killed, how could he carry on. After the death of his mother, Spitelout was all Snotlout had left. Snotlout shook his head. He can't think like that, he has to follow his Father's orders. He has to protect Hiccup.

Ruffnut was worried about her brother, who was worrying about her. I know that sounds weird but that if the thought running through their heads. Tufnfut and Ruffnut were also worried about Hiccup.

Fishlegs just wanted to get rid of Alvin. He was ruining the plan. The plan to build up Hiccup's confidence. With every attack on Berk because of the Dragons, more and more of Hiccup's confidence washes away, and the tribe were worried that not even Toothless could bring it back like before.

They all knew that they had to do something but what?

* * *

>They landed in a small clearing, a few miles away from the village.

"What are we going to do?" asked Ruffnut as she jumped down from her Dragon. Her brother followed her and soon everyone was off their Dragon.

"We do as we were ordered, keep Hiccup safe and go back when we get the all clear" said Snotlout. He looked over at Hiccup and saw that he and the Dragons were staring at bush at the edge of the clearing.

Sometimes, Snotlout is a little freaked out by how Dragon like Hiccup has become.

Then everyone else heard a rustle. And a small, ancient woman fell from the bush, quickly stood up, and approached Hiccup, a long stick helping her walk.

"You are the Chosen One" she said, pointing to him.

"I'm I'm the what?" asked Hiccup, shocked.

"Your the Chosen One, the One Chosen to bring peace" said the woman and she walked past him and sat down in the middle of the clearing. Staring at them all.

"What do you think you are doing?" asked Snotlout, standing in front of his cousin. Protecting him.

"Oh, I'm doing a spell, to send you where you can learn very important things" and then she started to mutter under breath.

Around the teenagers a small light started to spread from their feet up their body.

The old woman stood up and spread her arms sky ward.

There was bright flash of light and the teenagers were gone, leaving only confused Dragons and a sleeping old witch.

2. The Past

Stoick The Vast was walking through his village with his right hand man, Gobber, when their was a bright light.

Blinded, Stoick covered his eyes and only opened them again when the light was gone.

He and Gobber looked over to where the light originated from and saw older version of the teenagers currently doing their own things. There were many differences.

His Snotlout held himself proudly, this Snotlout had dampened down a lot, he was trying to protecting their Hiccup.

Their Astrid did not carry an axe, and she was glaring at them while his Astrid was never seen without her precious axe.

Their twins weren't fighting with each other but were helping each other. His twins were always fighting, nothing stopped them.

Fishlegs were looking at everything, analysing it. That hasn't changed, he only stood with a straight back.

And then there's Hiccup. The most obvious thing was the missing his foot. And then everything was different. All the teens kept looking to him.

"Dad?" he whispered. Shock written on his face. "You're younger."

"You're older" said Stoick.

"That stupid old hag sent us to the past" whisper-shouted Astrid.

"Er, we need proof" Gobber shrugged. Stoick saw that he and Gobber were both equally confused.

"What do you need?" asked Hiccup, standing up straighter.

"Er, what is your nickname for me?" asked Gobber. Hiccup smirked and crossed his arms, putting most of his weight onto his right leg.

"Meathead." he replied.

"That's him, what makes you think that you came to the past?" asked Gobber. All the teens smirked this time.

"Stoick has less wrinkles that where we come from" said Astrid and Hiccup went red and look away.

"How about we take this back to the house?" said Stoick, noticing the teens getting looks. They nodded and Gobber turned to Stoick.

"Want me to gather up our versions and their parents for a conversation at your house?" asked Gobber. Stoick nodded and began to lead the future kids to his house, and watched confused as the twins walked on either side of Hiccup, Snotlout behind and Fishlegs and Astrid in front of him.

What the hel had he done to earn their loyalty?

* * *

>Astrid was wondering what those idiots had done now. She, Snotlout, the Twins and Fishlegs were following their parents, who in turn were following Gobber to the Chiefs house. Walking beside Gobber was Hiccup the Useless, who they just found in the village drawing. Gobber opened the door and sheppard them all in.

Stoick was standing there and he told us to take a seat. We did and waited.

"Well, in turns out that the future version of our kids are here" he said and all the parents stood up.

All the teens names were mentioned but everyone heard Snotlout's question.

"You said our. Does that mean Useless is here?" he asked. Everyone looked from Hiccup who was suddenly paying attention.

"Yes, but I don't think that's his name any more" said Stoick and Gobber chuckled. Everyone's mouths were open, including Hiccup's.

"Want me to call them down, their sleeping in the attic?" asked Stoick. Everyone slowly nodded.

"Erm, you can come down now" he called up the stairs and everyone froze when they heard footsteps and saw the tip of Astrid's well worn boots.

"I'm telling you that the Nadder is better!" came Astrid's voice. Everyone stared as she walked down the stairs.

"Nope, I say the Nightmare can kick anyone of your asses" came Snotlout and he walked down the stairs. The twins followed right behind and once they were down the stairs yelled "Zippleback!"

Fishlegs was muttering "Gronkle" and he walked down the stairs.

If no one was in shock before then they were now when Hiccup came downstairs with a missing leg.

"Let's get this sorted right now, the best Dragon is the Night Fury."

3. Boasting but not Boasting

This chapter is dedicated to .71697, hope you enjoy.

* * *

>"What makes you say that?" asked Snotlout, glaring at his cousin.

"Easy, their smarter than you" joked Hiccup. Astrid burst out laughing.
>Everyone watched their conversation with wide eyes. Stoick coughed. The kids from the future blushed and looked over to Stoick.

"Sorry" they muttered. They all looked down ashamed.

"What the hel happened to change you all?" asked Spitelout. The other parents nodded.

"No, I actually want to know about the comment about Stoick having less wrinkles?" asked Gobber, looking at the teens.

"Hiccup" chorused Astrid, Snotlout, Fishlegs and the twins. Hiccup himself just shrugged with a sheepish grin.

"What do I - er him do?" asked the past Hiccup, staring at the older Hiccup with awe. He ignored the glares he got for talking but he stared shock at the way the future teens glared at the glarers.

"Well, he fell into a ball of fire, threw himself of several cliff, often falls from high places, gets kidnapped by Alvin on numerous occasions" Astrid listed this on her fingers, nearly laughing at the shocked faces.
>"Wait, wait, wait" interrupted the past Snotlout, holding his hands out and pacing to stand in front of the group.
"He's that important?" he yelled, pointing at his Hiccup.
>"Yep, he has something that everyone would kill to get their hands on" boasted Snotlout, much to the shock of his past self. Future Snotlout puffed out his chest.
"What did he do?" asked the past Astrid, as she and everyone looked at the future Hiccup, who was staring at the floor.
>"I'm not sure if we can tell" shrugged the future Astrid, "it might change something in our time that we do not want."
"Yeah, like Hiccup hitting a Night Fury" said Tuffnut.
>"WHAT!" yelled everyone in their correct time. The people in the wrong time (but Tuffnut and Ruffnut) face palmed while Ruffnut hit her brother over the back of his head.
"Your such an idiot" muttered Snotlout.
>"Why don't we just tell them, I need to get the dragons in the Training Arena to help out find the witch and have her return us to our proper time" said Hiccup.
"Yes, Hiccup from the future, just tell us" urged Hiccup from the past. He got glares from that.

"I'll tell, I like telling your stories" said Snotlout as he stepped forward.
>"Hiccup is now kinda famous amoung all the tribes. He goes by the names Dragon Conquerer, Dragon Tamer -" he started but Hiccup from the future interrupted.
"Dragon Trainer, Dragon Rider" he said, with a glare to his cousin.
>"Don't be ridiculous, there's no such thing as a Dragon Rider" snorted Astrid. The older Astrid rolled her eyes.

The older Hiccup gasped and grabbed at his chest, where his heart is. Astrid and Snotlout quickly grabbed him but he burst out laughing.

>"He's here" smiled Hiccup before running through the younger group, and right out the front door. His group were quick to follow then the younger group right after them.

Many people quickly moved of his way as he ran, prophestic leg and all. He ran right to the edge of the village, and then into the wood.

>"Toothless!"

4. The Cove

"Toothless!" he heard his rider cry before said rider attached himself to the neck of the Night Fury. Toothless stared wide eyed at the other Hiccup, younger versions of his friends riders and his rider's father and boss. Only they looked younger. He nudged Hiccup away from him and looked him in the eyes.

"We're in the past" explained Hiccup.

Stoick stared at the future version of his son hug a dragon. Hug a dragon. Younger Hiccup stared in shock. Future Astrid noticed something on Toothless and picked it off. She read through the note and handed it to Hiccup. Who read it out.

"Dear Hiccup and co.
>Your are in the past to learn something more about your destiny. You have a very important role in life. I sent your dragon back with you as he completes you. Once you have learned what I intend you to learn, you will return to your own time and the people in the past will forget.

C. "

Hiccup shook his head.
>"So we don't need to look for the witch, we just stay here and complete whatever lunatic mission she had in mind" said Snotlout, shaking his head.

"Meet me in the cove" said Hiccup, then he went to his younger self.

>"Wait, what are you doing?" asked the younger Hiccup.
"Taking you for a flight, so you can see why I changed" replied the older Hiccup. He dragged his younger self behind him.

Hiccup leapt onto Toothless and everyone from the past agreed that he looked like he belonged there.
>The younger Hiccup climbed on board Toothless, and grabbed onto his future's self waist and Toothless took off.

All that could be heard was Hiccup yell of delight and Hiccup's scream of fear.

"Follow me" smiled the older Astrid and the group ran to a cove no one knew was there. It was very beautiful.

"What is this place?" asked the younger Snotlout.

"This is where Hiccup hid Toothless for months" said Astrid as she went and sat down by the lake.

After about an half hour of sitting, they felt a gust of wind and saw the Night Fury land. Older Hiccup climbed off, younger Hiccup jumped off and was smiling widely.

"That was the best thing ever!" he yelled in delight, his arms raised in the air.

He smiled widely even more and was the complete opposite of the village had normally seen him as.

The older teens just smiled at seeing what the village liked seeing. A smiling, happy Hiccup, not the angst filled teenager that ruined a bunch of important things.

They now have happy, destroy things Hiccup.

All the younger people stared in shock.

"Was that what your first time was like?" asked older Astrid, pointing to the younger Hiccup as he talked about what his future self had shown him.

"No, my first time ended up with both of us crashing into the pond" said Hiccup, Toothless coughed beside him.

"I don't know about you lad, but I want to hear his story" said Gobber and he pointed to Hiccup, who was leaning against Toothless.

"My story?" asked Hiccup. Gobber rolled his eyes.

"No the other Hiccup - wait that won't work, the older Hiccup who came from the future and ride a bleeding Night Fury" said Gobber, sarcastic.

"Erm, well I shot down Toothless during a raid. Then I got attacked by a Nightmare. Then I got blamed for destroying something and no one believed when them I told them about the Night Fury and I got escorted back to the house. I stuck out the back and spent the rest of the night looking for the Night Fury. Found him and let him go. Was entered into Dragon Training and as I got closer to Toothless, I got better than everyone at Training. Was chosen for the one to kill the Nightmare and was going to run away, but Astrid found out. Had to take her on a flight to persuade her not to tell, found out the Dragons were imprisoned, tried to get the village to learn about the Dragons but got disowned and Toothless was taken right to the nest. Trained the other teenagers on Dragon Riding, and went to the nest, got Toothless and fought the big dragon called Red Death. Killed it and ended up in a coma for ..." Hiccup looked at Astrid for help.

"3 months" she said.

"Woke up, learned that village was completely different. Opened a training academy and became the most wanted person for Alvin and that's my story short told."

Toothless started to laugh at the faces on the people from the past. Their mouths were open and their eyes were wide. They were in shock.

Not surprisingly, Stoick was the first to come out of the shock.

"Okay, we need to think of what to call you to save confusion" he said.

"How about just the first letters of our names? You know, H, A, R, T, F and S?" asked Future Tuffnut. Everyone, even his past self stared in shock.

"What the hel you looking at?" he asked before punching his sister for looking at him.

"That is actually a good idea" said future Hiccup.

Everyone agreed and started to head to Berk (H was on his Toothless.)

5. The Village

Stoick had H and the others come into the Great Hall in the middle of the night. He had told everyone that there was a meeting in the morning and the future gang - as Gobber had started to call them - were hidden in the shadows (in case early morning people came in and saw them before Stoick wished it).

When everyone was sitting, Hiccup, Astrid, the Twins, Snotlout and Fishlegs were sitting at the table for the big shots like Stoick - he had discussed it with their parents at the cove.

"Alright, I assume you want to know what is going on, as I know that the stories about the teenagers as spread by now" said Stoick and there were nods from everyone.

"Those are future version of the teens beside me" said Stoick and there was silence.

"You are joking right?" a random Viking asked.

"No, met them and learned about the future from them" smiled Stoick.

"Why was your son with them if it is supposed to be a better future?" asked a different random Viking.

"Wow, that is really hurtful" smirked H, stepping out the shadows to stand beside his father, hand on his heart. The others (bar Toothless) followed. There were many gasps.

"How do you know that they are real?" asked someone.

"We tested them."

"Alright do tell us of this better future?"

"Erm, okay, the war with Dragons is over" said H. Everyone shook their heads.

"Yeah, and we are now at peace with dragons" said S. They caused everyone to stop. If S was saying that they are at peace with Dragons, then they must be.

"Can everyone just make their way to the Kill Ring, we'll explain better then" said A and everyone left.

"You need to work on your speeches" said A and she punched H, then she kissed him.

"What!" several voices screamed and everyone turned to see Hiccup, Astrid, Snotlout, the twins and Fishlegs staring.

6. Toothless

I was getting confused with letter so I will write the future versions of the teens in capitals but when they are talking to each other they will still be called by their first letter. **

SNOTLOUT could not help it, he burst out laughing. HE remembers when they kissed in front of him for the first time, HE was so jealous but HE saw the benefits.

"Anyway, we need to get going, Dragons to train and what not" said HICCUP with a smirk. He looked behind him and Toothless came out of the shadows.

()()()()()()()()()()()()()()()()

Toothless followed his Riders commanded and, after making sure that no one was in the way, ran into the wood, to get some excerrsise after the missed flight.

He loved flying, and he loved running. Sometimes he ran, with Hiccup on his back, through the woods and then would suddenly jjump an dthey would end up flying.

Toothless was about a mile into the wood when he heard. There was another Night Fury somewhere around him.

But he is the last Night Fury! How can there be another one around here. Oh, wait, he's in the past.

Meaning that he was about to get attacked by himself. Great, and Toothless was flipped.

He landed on his back, which hurt quite a bit, and found himself face to face with er himself, so to speak.

_Who are you and how are you alive _said the Night Fury, glaring at his companion.

_My name is Toothless, I am you from the future _Toothless growled back at him.

How are you me from the future, what kind of witchcraft is this!

_Well, witchcraft, my friend and his friends were sent to the past and I got sent back to protect him. _

_Protect him? _

_Hiccup. _The Night Fury quickly stepped off of Toothless.

_That does not sound like a Dragon. _

He's isn't.

_What do you mean? _

_The stories we were told at the Nursery - about the Dark Ryder.

Their true. Hiccup is the Dark Ryder. The one chosen to bring peace, and we were born to help him. He is trapped here by the witch C - no idea who she was but. _

The stories are real! What happened to your tail?

_Oh..._

7. Hiccup's Mother

"Wait, wait, I'm dating Astrid?" asked Hiccup, as the group walked to the Kill Ring.

"No, your not" said Astrid, still a little upset that her first boyfriend was Hiccup the Useless.

"Well technically, I am. I was told that, while I was in the coma, she sat by my bedside all the time, so that my father could work" said HICCUP, with a chuckle.

"And he had to go and wake up when I was trying to feed his overprotective mother" said ASTRID.

"But Hiccup doesn't have a mother" said Ruffnut.

"Yes, he dies, she's black and scaly and a he" said FISHLEGS - which caused the present group to be in shock as Fishlegs never talks.

"Okay, we are here, this should be fun" said HICCUP and he walked down the ramp and joined his father and mentor.

"Okay, future son, what do you want to do now?" asked Stoick. He was still in a little shock as to how his weak, shy, sarcastic son could turn into this strong, outgoing, sarcastic teen.

"Let the Nadder out and move back" ordered HICCUP.

Gobber released the Nadder and went to join the group waiting at the gate.

The Nadder charged for Hiccup, who to the shock of the Vikings, only held out a hand.

Puzzled, the Nadder stopped.

"It's okay, I promise I won't hurt you" said HICCUP and the Nadder slowly placed it's snout in his hand. HICCUP began to scratch the Nadder and managed to put her to sleep.

The audience were in shock.

HICCUP quickly repeated this process with the other Dragons before turning and walking out the Kill Ring.

"They'll be asleep for a while, so it' best to just leave them until they wake up" he said and he left, the group followed him.

Slowly, the audience began to follow and several screamed when a shadow - no wait, two shadows, came running towards them.

"Toothless" smiled Hiccup, since he learned he actually makes a friend on his own, he loved the sight of the Dragon.

Toothless went straight up to HICCUP and patted his forehead with his snout.

"What is it, bud?" asked HICCUP. Toothless lowered his head until he was on eyesight with the Dragon Rider and used his head to point to his past self.

And there sat Night Fury, staring in shock at HICCUP.

8. Duo

The Night Fury stared, his face set in shock.

He glanced from HICCUP to TOOTHLESS, and then his eyes went to Hiccup.

He slowly approached Hiccup and stared at him. Slowly, Hiccup rested his hand on the Night Fury, and began to scratch, the way he had seen his future self had done it in the ring.

HICCUP watched on, his face approved as he watched his younger self bond with what would become their best friend.

Toothless started to like the small Viking and ran his tongue up Hiccup's face, causing Hiccup to laugh, and the other Vikings to stare in shock. Hiccup never laughs.

Toothless started to get excited, and kept rubbing his face of Hiccup's, causing the future teens to laugh.

"Is that how you two met?" asked RUFFNUT.

"No, I tried to kill Toothless and he roared right in my ear, completely different" said HICCUP, with a smirk at TOOTHLESS.

"Seriously, that is how the greatest friendship I have ever seen was born" said TUFFNUT.

"Yeah" said HICCUP, scratching TOOTHLESS on the chin.

HICCUP yawned, he was suddenly feeling really tired. TOOTHLESS yawned too, causing the future teens to laugh.

"C'mon, we better get some sleep, we have a big day tommorrow after all" said ASTRID, and just to make her parents happy (after all, they always wanted her to date Snotlout, since it was known that he would be chief in this time, they were wrong, but she knows her parents and Stoick are already planning their wedding) she grabbed HICCUP and kissed him.

She wrapped her arm around him and began to lead him back to the house, hearing Stoick's shocked exclamation and her parent joyous cries. The others followed on.

9. Men

ASTRID and the other teens were sleeping in their beds, TOOTHLESS was sleeping at the foot of HICCUP'S bed. Stoick was downstairs with Hiccup and Toothless. He had to admit that they did looked good together.

"So, I'm guessing that we have a good relationship in the future?" muttered Hiccup.

"Why do you say that?" asked Stoick.

"The future me doesn't flinch whenever you walk into a room" said Hiccup. Stoick nodded. That was true. The future version of his son seemed to stand taller whenever Stoick walked into a room.

"So, I guess I better be heading to bed myself" whispered Hiccup. He stood up, his Dragon followed. At the footo fthe stairs, Stoick called.

"I am proud of what you become. It's apparent from your future that you find you own way of being a Viking" said Stoick. Hiccup nodded and went to bed.

Stoick sighed and looked at the fire. He slowly began the task of getting ready to go to bed.

(*)

HICCUP was standing with his younger self, his father and his friends, the two Night Furies were there too when he arrived.

With his staff and his sheep.

"Stoick!" he called with his horrible breath, "are we finally losing it. Allowing Dragons into the tribe"

"Oh, look is Mad Mildew" said HICCUP, causing everyone in the are to look at him.

10. Mildew

"Who are you to call me Mad Mildew?" sneered Mildew.

"Your future chief" smirked HICCUP, crossing his arms.

"Not if I have anything to do with it" sneered Mildew.

"Oh, shut you old clot" said ASTRID.

"Do not talk to your betters that way" said Mildew, rising up.

"You are not my better. Your just a crazy old man" said FISHLEGS. Mildew couldn't decide who he was glaring at. He kept shifted his eyes from one teen to the other. The onlookers couldn't decide if they should stare, open mouthed, or laugh really loudly.

"I am not crazy!" yelled Mildew. The younger versions of the teens were laughing.

"You're so senile you married a sheep" said HICCUP.

"At least my mother and father raised me" sneered Mildew. Everyone gasped.

"Your Mom even hated you enough to name you Mildew. I don't even think you were born, you just formed from the slim of rotting stuff" said Hiccup.

Mildew was slowly going red.

"Stoick, I demand that these Dragons shouldn't be allowed in this village!" yelled Mildew.

"Great," sighed SNOTLOUT, "it's bad enough we have to listen to you in the future but come on mildew get over it you are never going to get rid of the dragons we already saw your tricks framing toothless and the others, poisoning the dragons, convincing my uncle to get rid of the dragons we saw all of your tricks you are never going to get rid of them ever."

Mildew's face now resembled that of a tomato.

"What does that mean?" asked Gobber, eyeing the two Night Furies.

"He's been trying to get rid of the dragons the second we made peace. So far he's: Blamed the dragons on every thing that goes rogue, Poisoned them, oh, and sided with the outcast's and helped them capture me" explained HICCUP. Stoick's cheeks went red.

"He did what?" asked Stoick, glaring at the man.

"He will do it. He hasn't done it yet, and when we go back to our time, you'll have forgotten everything" said Hiccup.

"I do not want Mildew in my village until then. Mildew you are to stay in your house until they are gone" said Stoick. Mildew huffed. He stood his ground.

"Stoick, you should be ashamed of your son, both of them, they were born disappointments and grew into traitors" said Mildew.

"And you were born with grey hair and wrinkles" said Hiccup, his newly found dragon standing behind him.

"How dare you?"

"No, how dare you. If I am to be the chief of the tribe, I need to start standing my ground. And that includes little old men who are married to their sheep, belong on Outcast Island, has more wives than friends, and I rather hang with a rotten cabbage than with you. So I suggest you do as your chief commanded it and leave."

The entire tribe agreed there and then that Hiccup would make a good chief one day. He looked pretty scary with the Night Fury snarling at Mildew. Who turned and stomped away.

11. Dragons

Hiccup woke up feeling odd. He felt that something was different. He slowly opened his eyes and looked around. His drawings and blueprints were on his walls, his desk was still littered with papers, there was a dark dragon lying by his open window, his bed was still in the middle of the room - wait!

On seeing Toothless, Hiccup suddenly remembered everything. A future version of him and his "friends" were in his time. The future version of him was so cool. He was missing a leg, his outfit had changed dramatically, he could control dragons and was a leader to the other teens. Hiccup could also tell that the future version of him was more confident. He stood straighter whenever his father came into the room. He spoke louder and when he issue his orders he knew that they would be followed without complaint.

And he's dating Astrid. Now that was a shocker. When he saw the future version of himself kiss the future version of his old crush made his heart soar. And the fact that the future version of Snotlout seemed to accept this. It actually looked like the future version of Snotlout had moved on Ruffnut, or was planning to.

Across the room, Toothless woke up, quickly remembered that the legends were true and that he was the Dragon in the story. He quickly turned to look at his human and saw that his human was already awake, just not moving from his bed.

"Hiccup!" yelled Stoick up the stairs to Hiccup's room and Hiccup finally moved. He groaned, wiped a hand across his face and moved up from his lying position. He moved his blankets from his body and grabbed his boots, which he had left lying at the bottom of his bed. He slipped them on and stood up, grabbing his brown jacket and put it on.

"Coming Dad!" yelled Hiccup as he started to walk towards the door. Just as he reached the door, he turned back to Toothless.

"You coming?" he asked. Toothless released his ultimate weapon, his gummy smile, and began to follow Hiccup downstairs.

Hiccup walked onto the ground floor to see his future self and his future self's dragon and his dad sitting at the table, having breakfast.

"Good morning" he said to the three of them as he sat down and began to have his own breakfast of porridge. He poured some honey onto it and started to eat.

"Any of you doing anything today?" asked Stoick, staring at his sons.

"I have work" said Hiccup.

"I'm going to fly, I need some air" said HICCUP with a smile on his face.

It went back to an awkward silence.

"Where are the others?" asked Hiccup, realising that it was only the Haddocks there.

"They went to the Dragon Arena and started to work with their dragons" said HICCUP, "they feel that I shouldn't be there this time."

"Why?" asked Stoick.

"Because in this time, I'm not really accepted so Astrid suggested I let myself go for a while, just take this adventure as an excuse to relax for the first time in a while" shrugged HICCUP as he finished his breakfast, carried his bowl to the water tub and left, taking TOOTHLESS with him.

"You really do change, some of it isn't for the best" said Stoick.

"Why is some of it bad?" asked Hiccup.

"It shows that you are growing up, and even though I was never there in the first place, you might not need your father or Gobber soon" said Stoick, and he looked at his bowl.

"What makes you think that?" asked Hiccup.

"You didn't take honey with your breakfast" said Stoick, "and that was something your mother used to do."

"What did he put in instead?" asked Hiccup.

"Nothing, he left it bland" said Stoick.

"Like what you do, you mean?" asked Hiccup and Stoick's eyes brightened when he thought it through.

"Yeah, just like me" and Stoick stood, put his bowl in bucket and headed off to his duties.

ASTRID stood with her hands on his hips watching the twins fight over who gets what head. Again.

"Guys, this is the same dragon from our time. Just take the heads you had before" suggest FISHLEGS from his spot beside Meatlug, who was enjoying getting her belly rubbed.

"But what if we want a change?" asked RUFFNUT.

"Well I don't want a change if you want a change" said TUFFNUT and he pushed his sister.

"I don't want a change then" said RUFFNUT, crossing her arms.

"Great, it's settled, you keep the same heads" said SNOTLOUT with false cheer in his voice.

"Yeah" cheered the twins and they grabbed Barf and Belch into a cuddle.

"Okay, so that is the bonding done. Now, flying, if I recall correctly" said ASTRID, counting down on her fingers.

"Yeah, I haven't been flying in forever" yelled SNOTLOUT.

"Remember, we can't do tricks though, because our dragons won't be used to it" said ASTRID as she climbed on top of Stormfly. The other riders did the same thing.

"Five, four, three, two, one GO!" yelled ASTRID and the four dragons ran out of the arena into freedom. The sky.

"Okay, keep steady, keep calm and race" said ASTRID and the dragons began to flap their wings faster and the wind started to blow through the time travellers hair.

"Hello there milady" said a cheery voice and ASTRID turned to see her Hiccup flying beside her.

"Hey, aren't you meant to be relaxing, you know staying in bed" said ASTRID with a smile.

"Staying in bed sounds dull, now, flying with Toothless is much better. Being in the sky feels free" and Hiccup closed his eyes just to feel the wind hitting his face.

"Okay, well have fun" said ASTRID. HICCUP opened his eyes and looked at her.

"Oh, I am" and he unbuckled himself from the saddle and threw himself off. Stormfly, Hookfang, Barf, Belch and Meatlug stared wideeyed as HICCUP fell and TOOTHLESS started to chase him down until both were falling through the air. The dragons turned to face their new riders with an eager expression.

"No, they have been doing that for years and ..." and whatever ASTRID was about to say was interrupted by another yell as they saw Hiccup and Toothless from the past falling a few metres away. Stormfly gave ASTRID a look.

"No, I swear Hiccup is a dragon half the time."

End
file.